THE U.S.-CHINA POLICY FOUNDATION

Est. 1995

THE UNITED STATES-CHINA POLICY FOUNDATION

The United States-China Policy Foundation (USCPF)

is a 501(c)(3) non-partisan, non-profit, educational organization that promotes understanding between policymakers, government officials, and researchers in the United States and China. The Foundation does not advocate specific policies or endeavor to influence policy decisions, but instead provides information to increase awareness and deepen understanding of important issues in U.S.-China relations. USCPF provides opportunities for practitioners of foreign policy to interact in more diverse and substantial ways and seeks to inform the public through its publications and programs.

Allied during the two World Wars, the United States and China drifted apart during the Cold War. Disagreements have occasionally caused friction even after the reestablishment of relations in 1972. Unfortunately, misunderstandings and misperceptions stemming from different cultural and political histories have sometimes exacerbated these disputes.

USCPF was founded in 1995 to enhance policymaking dialogue between the United States and China. While other organizations in the United States aid in strengthening understanding of China, USCPF is the first and only public educational organization devoted exclusively to improving U.S.-China policy exchanges in the nation's capital. In pursuit of this goal, the Foundation works closely with policymakers, academics, and the public in both countries.

The Foundation is located in the heart of Capitol Hill, in close proximity to Congress and other government institutions.

To fulfill its educational mission, the Foundation supports the following activities:
